[National] NMPA Issues Announcement to Implement Measures for the Administration of Cosmetic Labels

In order to strengthen the supervision and management of cosmetic labels, regulate the use of cosmetic labels, and protect the legitimate rights and interests of consumers, the National Medical Products Administration (“NMPA”) issued an announcement on June 3, 2021 to implement the Measures for the Administration of Cosmetic Labels.

According to the announcement which takes immediate effect, cosmetics shall be labeled according to the regulation. From May 1, 2022, cosmetics companies applying for registration or filing must meet requirements of the regulation; if the cosmetics have applied for registration but not labeled in accordance with the regulation, the registrant must complete the update of product labels before May 1, 2023.

[National] The PRC Data Security Law (approved on June 10th, 2021 and will become effective on September 1st, 2021)

The 3rd draft of the PRC Data Security Law was approved on June 10th, 2021. As the basic law in the field of data, The Data Security Law focuses on the outstanding problems in the field of data security, and establishes the basic systems of data classification and classification management, data security risk assessment, monitoring and alerts, emergency disposal, data security review, etc. Compared with the second draft, the approved version of DSL requires that the needs of the elderly and the disabled should be fully considered in providing intelligent public services, which should not cause obstacles to the daily life of the elderly and the disabled; it also increases the punishment for illegal acts.
